Vasco

Hello!

Cześć!

About Vasco:

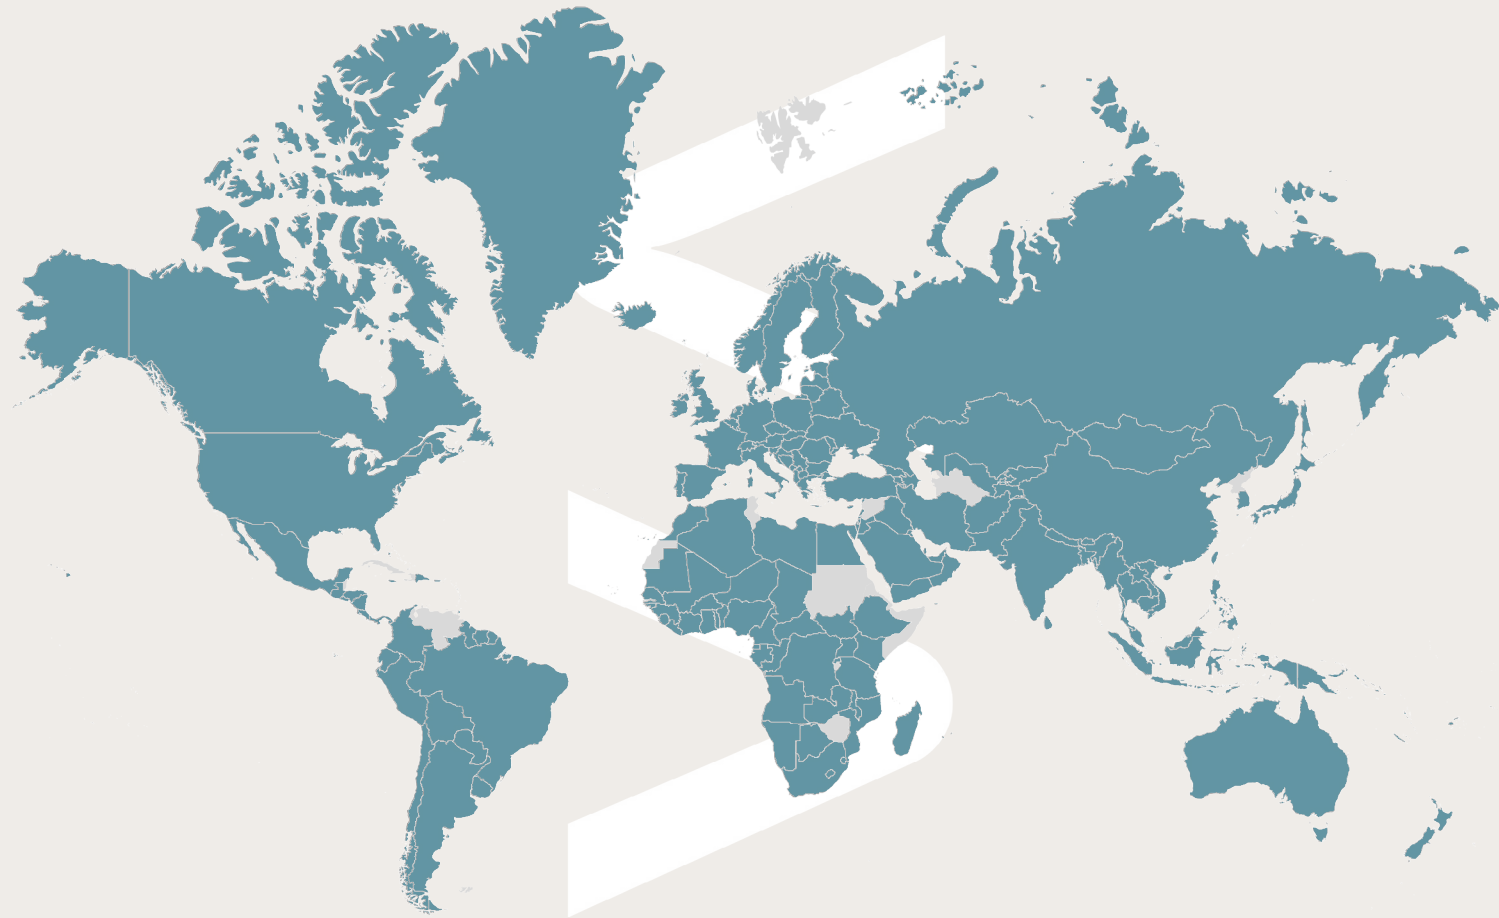

Vasco has been designing, manufacturing and selling mobile translation devices that will break language barriers for you, wherever you are.

The company was founded in 2008 by Maciej Góralski. What inspired him to create translator devices were his personal experiences during the studies and travels abroad. Maciej noticed there is a demand on the market for advanced devices that can facilitate communication between people who use different languages.

Vasco Translators are used by tourists, people working abroad as well as by companies and organizations serving clients of different nationalities (such organizations include tourist facilities, offices as well as medical and uniformed services). Thanks to Vasco Translator devices, people can forget about language challenges and focus on relaxing, discovering the world and developing their businesses.

Today, Vasco is one of the leaders on the electronic translators market. The company operates in almost 20 countries on 4 continents, and has nearly 200 employees. The head office is located in Kraków, but the company has local representatives in various countries around the world.
